HOW BROKER HATCH DIED.

He Went Home with Another Man's Wife, Was Discovered, and Fell from a Window.

NEW YORK, May 8.—The dead body of Nathaniel W. T. Hatch, a banker and broker at 14 Nassau street, was found this morning by a workman in the yard in the rear of 64 West Twentieth street. The story of how he came to his death cannot now be told, but there is the story of Mrs. Lillian F. Hatch, a richly-dressed and handsome woman of about thirty years, to suggest a suspicion of a murder committed by jealousy. Mrs. Hatch was taken to the West Thirtieth-street police station soon after the discovery of the body. She and her husband, Charles W. Hatch, live in apartments at the address given. Mrs. Hatch said she dined with Hatch last night at a restaurant in West Twenty-seventh street, a place known as Mrs. Fanny's. It was within an hour of midnight when they left the restaurant, and Mr. Hatch accompanied her home. Arriving there, she invited him in, she said, in order to show him her apartments. Mrs. Hatch was at that time asleep in the back parlor, but was aroused by the movements of his wife and Hatch. The latter was hastily concealed in a room on the second floor, and Mrs. Hatch turned to meet her husband. Hatch's jealousy was aroused to a hot pitch, and he questioned his wife in a most violent way concerning the man who had been with her. She steadfastly refused to give the man's name, and insisted that he had left the house. There was a lively quarrel between husband and wife, which only ended when Hatch left the house. The woman heard nothing more. She searched her room where she had left Hatch, but could not find him there or in any of the surrounding apartments, and thought he had left the house. She retired, and knew no more of what happened in the night until the body was discovered in the yard this morning. Mrs. Hatch was pale, but told her story with the utmost calmness. No Sergeant Scholtenberg, giving evidence of no agitation. The husband, Charles W. Hatch, was also taken to the station-house. He was formerly a broker and a good character, and has been married for some time. He was the son of a wealthy family, and was the eldest son of the senior member of the firm. He was thirty-three years old, and lived with his wife in a handsome and well-furnished house at 36 West Fifty-fifth street. He was a well-known figure in the city, and his wife was one of the most prominent ladies in society on the Heights.

Mrs. Hatch is a fine-looking woman. She is also very intelligent and altogether equal to the emergency. She speaks calmly of her husband's death as a "very sad affair." According to her story she has been married to Charles W. Hatch, usually through the office of W. T. Hatch & Sons (who carries a number of stock certificates on her person to prove it), though she occasionally patronized J. & C. Worcester, of 15 Broad street. After a long and painful statement, when she said this was in the habit of telling her friend, Mr. Nathaniel Hatch, what the Worcester bought and sold and what they gave her in the way of advice. One of these occasions occurred yesterday, preceding the broker's violent death by a few hours. The generally accepted theory is that Hatch was killed by a fall from the bath-room window while trying to make his escape, although the police affect to believe that there was a fight between Hatch and his wife, and that the latter was thrown out of the window.

A coroner's inquest was held this afternoon, and Mr. and Mrs. Hatch were examined. From their testimony it was evident that Hatch was killed by falling from the bath-room window while trying to escape from the husband of his friend, Mrs. Hatch. The prisoners were therefore released.

Swedish Attempt at Poisoning.
TORO, O., May 8.—An arrest here to-day disclosed a Swedish attempt at poisoning that might have resulted in the death of hundreds. Hiram Fields, a prominent merchant, reproved his hired man for drunkenness. The hired man replied, "I'll fix you." Later Mr. Fields found that his wine casks had been tampered with. A closer examination revealed crystals of blue vitriol, not yet dissolved, in the wine. Dozens of casks, containing thousands of gallons, were found to have been thus poisoned. The man was arrested. There was great excitement, and threats of lynching.

Safety of the Eureka's Crew.
PHILADELPHIA, May 8.—Captain Quick of the steamer Eureka, which was in collision with the steamer Benbow on Sunday, and who, with his crew of thirty-eight men, were supposed to have been drowned, arrived here this morning with the entire crew, all safe and uninjured. The Eureka crew were brought here by the steamer Des Moines, having been transferred to that vessel from the ship Carolina Gray, which picked up the shipwrecked crew at 6 o'clock on Sunday evening, after they had been in their boat for about 480 hours.

OVERLOADED HIMSELF

Customer (to art dealer)—If that is a genuine Corot, Isaacstein, I don't understand how you can sell it so cheap.

Art Dealer (in a confidential whisper)—My friend, I was new in dot pizness, and bought an overstock of dot make.

Corot, it is needless to say, is a painter who has been dead some years, and his works are valued very highly. The grim joke is any dealer being able to get an "overstock" of his pictures.

Some dealers do get an overstock of old goods, but they are not quite as valuable as Corot's pictures. In fact, the older they get the less they are worth, being exactly opposite from a picture. They are like last year's birds' nests.

When you are invited to buy low-priced goods, use your eyes and come to a store like ours, whose confidence is firmly established everywhere, and make sure of what you are getting.

A DOUBLE EXECUTION.

Robert G. Hall and David Vincent Hanged—History of the Crimes They Committed.

PHILADELPHIA, May 8.—Robt. G. Hall and David Vincent were hanged at the county prison here at 10:13 o'clock this morning.

The crime for which Robert G. Hall forfeited his life as a penalty was the murder of his mistress, Mrs. Lillian F. Rivers, in this city on the 3d of June last year. The crime was the outcome of an insane jealousy, and the history of the affair exposes a remarkable story of love, hatred and jealous madness. Mrs. Rivers, whose maiden name was Sophia F. Smith, was an English woman of mature years. Some time after her arrival in this country she met and married James W. Rivers, an actor, whose stage name was James W. Reynolds, and assumed the name of Lillian in place of Sophia. Rivers was also somewhat of a playwright, and with varying success he followed the stage for a number of years. A few months before Hall's crime Rivers became jealous of his wife on account of her alleged intimacy with Hall, and in a fit of passion fired a shot at her, which, however, did not take any serious effect. He also attempted to take his life, but failed, and as soon as he recovered from the effects of his slight self-inflicted wound, he left the city with his two children, with the intention of going to Kansas. His attempt at suicide had been discovered by Rivers, who had often accused his wife of being intimate with Hall, and he took her to a room where they lived as man and wife until the murder. Their life was an extremely unhappy one, as Hall was a man of a most extraordinarily jealous disposition. Quarrels followed each other in quick succession. Hall would accuse his mistress of infidelity, and in order to keep her in the house would hide her clothing. He frequently threatened to take her own life, and on one occasion he threatened to take her own life, and on one occasion he threatened to take her own life.

When the convention reassembled the temporary organization was made permanent. Resolutions were adopted regarding the Republican platform and the Michigan delegates to Chicago to do all they honorably can in support of ex-Governor Alger's presidential candidacy. The following gentlemen have been chosen as the State central committee: First District, Charles Wright; Second, Tom S. Applegate, Joseph T. Jacobs; Third, A. Giddings, A. B. Cope; Fifth, S. W.
